

MERCK Hypertension Award

What the Healthy Heart needs

All Medical Undergraduates, Interns and Postgraduates are invited to apply for the
MERCK Hypertension Award 2018
Theme: What the Healthy Heart needs

Merck Hypertension Award has been rolled out in many of the African and Asian Universities as part of our commitment to building healthcare capacity and improving access to quality and sustainable healthcare solutions in developing countries.

The aim of MERCK Hypertension Award is to create Hypertension Experts Platform across the globe.

Please submit a one-page Concept Paper about:

- How to improve the awareness about Hypertension control and prevention in your country
- How to encourage your society, scientific community, local authorities, media and relevant stakeholders to think and act on Hypertension Every Day
- Your ideas of developing new policies, strategies, social media campaigns and more

Be creative and think out of the box.

Share your insights to make a difference.

Applicants Name, Gender, Age, Country, University/College, Expected Year of Completion of MBBS/Medical graduation, address, email and mobile number must be provided with the submission.

Your submission will be reviewed by the Scientific Committee.

MERCK Hypertension Award is enrolment to an online Postgraduate Diploma in Preventative Cardiovascular Medicine with the University of South Wales.
